A BIG MINING DEAL

Over a Third of a Million.

Work Will Begin at Once on an Extensive Scale.

Papers were filed in the office of the county recorder yesterday from which are gleaned the particulars of the biggest mining deal ever consummated in this county, unless exceeded by the transfer to the Sparks Mining Company of the Reno Star mine.

This deal is a bond placed upon a tract of mining ground adjoining and lying w[illegible]terly of the property of the Great Western Mining Company at Steamboat Springs.

This tract consists of 120 acres, being N 1-2 of SW 1-4 and SW 1-4 of SW 1-4 S 33 T 18 NR 20 E, MDB&M, containing 120 acres.

This land was owned by Moritz Scheelline, General Turrittin, Senator Flanigan A. G. Fletcher and Mrs. Annie E. Osborn.

On the 15th of August an agreement was entered into with J. L. Rathbone for the transfer of the property. Night before last a deal was consummated whereb, a deed placed in escrow, conveys to the Senator Gold Mining Company this property on consideration of $700,000 in gold coin to be paid within two years from date.

During the life of the bond the Senator Company is pledged to develop the property continuously. They have deposited $7000 as security that this will be done. This company was incorporated under the laws of the State of California. All the stockholders are men of wealth. The president is J. H. Swift and W. A. Jacobs is secretary.

Mr. Ogden, a mining man, who was operated extensively in Tuolumne county California, South Africa and Cuba, has been engaged as superintendent. He has engaged the services of twelve or fifteen miners and will put them to work at once on a double compartment shift.

Today a carload of mining machinery will arrive from San Francisco. It will consist of a plentiful supply of tools a modern hoist, engine and boiler. No time will be lost in getting to water level and exploring the ground.

The theory of the Senator Company's experts is that a large quartz ledge of extraordinary richness underlies the sedimentary formation deposited there by the geysers. It is believed to be the western extension of the Comstock. Less than a year ago this formation was cut on an adjoining claim with a diamond drill. Assays of borings yielded from $17.50 to over $4000 in gold. A double compartment shaft is being sunk to catch this formation, but is progressing slowly on account of the large quantity of hot water that must be handled.

The New Hoist Is in Commission.

The new steam hoist at the Reno Star mine was in complete operation all day yesterday and worked in splendid manner.

There was eight feet of water in the shaft when the power was turned on, but the Dow sinking pump unwatered it in twenty minutes.

Then the dirt began to fly. It came up at a rapid rate.

Superintendent Crane is to be congratulated on the workmanlike manner in which the mine is being worked.

Invites Are Issued.

Cards are out—a whole deck of them—announcing the wedding of Parsee, the prospector. The name of the lady in the case has not yet been made public. The date of the ceremony has been set for a week from fall.

Meet the Demand.

Nearly every day someone stops the reporter and enquires for a room or house to rent. As none are advertised he cannot give the information. If you have a room or a house to rent, let the people know it through The Journal.

Will be a Good Fair.

From all accounts the State Fair at Reno this year will be ahead of those of previous years. A large number of horses are training at the track and many horsemen from California have engaged stall room there.

Human Nature.

"There's as much human nature in some folks as there's in others if not more so," says David Harum, and what more he has to say may be heard at the Congregational Church, Monday, September 9th, at 8 p. m., for the small sum of 25 cents.

ANNIVERSARIES CELEBRATED

A Pleasant Social Event Takes Place in Verdi.

The social event of the season at Verdi occurred Tuesday evening in the form of a wedding anniversary celebrating the China marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Lachapelle and the crystal wedding of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Brobst.

The honored guests were mystified by an unconditional summons served by the local constable to appear at the town hall promptly at 9 p. m. and they were happily surprised to find that over two hundred of their adult friends of Verdi, Reno and Truckee had assembled to witness their renewal of marital vows, which were administered by proxy of Judge L. King, who was unavoidably absent.

Following the first ceremony there was a literary and musical program rendered by the following friends and neighbors:

Lohengrin's wedding march, Mrs. Rosseau; duet, Misses Brown and Pixley; instrumental selection, Master Harold Condon; vocal solo, Mrs. M. J. Curtis; recitation, "Deacon Brown's Courtship," Miss B. Housh; vocal solo, Miss Meloch; dance en masque; vocal duet, Mrs. LeDucanf, Miss De Cori; instrumental selections, piano and saxophone, Mrs. Walter Hastings and Mr. Melin; instrumental quartette, piano, mandolin and guitar Miss Housh Mrs. Rosseau, Mrs. Radin and Mr. O'Point.

After the program was rendered and the encores following each number, ample refreshments were served and the hall soon cleared for those who wished to trip the light fantastic toe. Dancing was indulged in until the "wee, sma' hours." Music was furnished by Prof. Regnon's orchestra.

The china and crystal presents given by the friends from Verdi, Reno and vicinity were handsome and elaborate; besides there were numerous individual presents that were costly and appropriate.

Will Write up the New Camp.

The publishers of the Mining and Scientific Press of San Francisco have requested Major Ingalls, one of its staff correspondents, to go to Tonopah and write up that live mining camp for their journal. He will start for Tonopah Saturday next.

Most of our readers know that he has for ten days past been engaged in writing up the mining properties in the vicinity of Reno for publication in the Mining and Scientific Press.

On his return from Tonopah in two weeks he will complete his canvass of mines in this county and then obtain photographs of several mining properties and data for publication for his paper.

There have been several extended well written articles on Tonopah published in the Mining and Scientific Press and they have no question done much to make that camp a success.

If Tonopah citizens will support the efforts of Major Ingalls in their behalf as liberally as ours have done we believe his write-up of that camp will be productive in enlisting even more interest and capital in their camp and, especially in the matter of a railroad connection at Sodaville.

THE PLACE TO GO.

Take your watch, clock and jewelry repairing, diamond setting and engraving where none but expert workmen are employed. All work guaranteed by the Frank Golden Jewelry Company, leading jewelers of Nevada.

STOOD DEATH OFF.

E. B. Lundy, a lawyer of Henrietta, Tex., once fooled a grave-digger. He says: "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice. This remedy expels malaria, kills disease germ and purifies the blood; aids digestion, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, cures constipation, dyspepsia, nervous complaints, kidney troubles, female complaints; gives perfect health. No Scabs Are to Be Had Here.

A scab runner is said to be in Reno. This procurer of males is here for the purpose of enticing a carload of Nevadans down to San Francisco to take the positions of the teamsters, longshoremen and other workers in the bay city who are sacrificing their means of sustenance in their struggle against organized and oppressive wealth.

As there is only one class of people in Reno who would possibly consent to fill the bill and they are either in jail or making a living without working for it, it is not probable that the procurer will meet with success.

Genuine Nevadans are so constructed, physically, mentally and morally that they make poor scabs.

A "scab," as defined in the Standard Dictionary, is: "A crust formed on the surface of a sore; a contagious disease resembling mange; the itch of human beings; a mean, dirty, paltry fellow."

Is there an honest man in Reno, or in Nevada, who would like to have an appellation, so defined to be handed to him?

The scab runner is around interviewing the newspapers to have an advertisement inserted. The Journal would not accept it for $5 a line. Bert Crawfort of the Ledger says he will insert it free, provided he is allowed to comment on it. The Ledger does not expect to receive the ad.

Bert is not "a crust formed on the surface of a sore," and besides he doesn't want to take chances of having his paper jumped on like the Grass Valley Morning Union and other coast papers that are being boycotted by wage earners for publishing the "Independent Employment Agency's" ad.

Please Do not Scold Them.

The young ladies in the Sunset central office are red-eyed with weeping and their voices are husky with grief. Many a dainty kerchief is put out of commission every day because of intermittent mopping up the saline evidences of woe.

It is sad indeed that the corners of their mouths should droop, the light of joy fade from their eyes and the roses vanish from their cheeks.

It is all the fault of a few quarrelsome males and querulous females who respectively bellow and screech over the line, "Why in Helen Blazes don't you give me the number I called for?" and "Do you think I have nothing else to do than wait all afternoon for you to connect me with the millinery store?"

The central girls do not complain. They are long suffering and of tender mercy. They are doing the best they can, poor dears, to answer calls promptly and accurately.

A CHURCH WEDDING

The Small-Rulison Nuptials.

A Ceremony Performed Mid Flowers and Music.

At 4 o'clock yesterday at the Congregational Church, Miss Belle Rullison was united in wedlock to Mr. Fred L. Small. Dr. J. E. Stubbs, assisted by the Rev. Chase, performed the ceremony. The church was very prettily decorated by the St. Margaret's Society and the couple were married under an immense floral bell.

Miss Helen Rullison acted as bridesmaid. Mr. C. H. Rullison, father of bride, gave her away and Dr. Fred Rullison acted as best man.

Dr. S. E. D. Pinniger, Dr. W. H. Cavell of Carson, Mr. Roy Robinson and Mr. Chas. Knox were the ushers.

Miss Hepburn Michaels sang, "O Promise Me" at the end of the service.

Mrs. Prof. Wilson presided at the organ and played Lohengrin's wedding march as the wedding party approached the altar.

The church was filled to overflowing with the friends of the bride and groom and all united in wishing them a very happy future.

At the close of the service the family and a few intimate friends of the bride and groom, repaired to the Rullison residence where an elaborate banquet was served and many toasts were proposed, wishing the bride and groom unalloyed happiness.

The number of very costly presents showed that the bride and groom had a host of good friends.

All the family from far and near were in attendance and in addition to the wedding, a regular family reunion was enjoyed.

Mr. and Fred Small left on the flier for Buffalo. They expect to be absent six weeks. Upon their return they will make their home in Churchill county for a while, then will locate in Alameda. A host of friends were at the depot to bid them bon voyage.

Wadsworth Is now on the Line.

The Sunset T. & T. Company's telephone line to Wadsworth has been completed. The Journal was invited to make the first spiel over the line. Manager McFarlin's invitation was accepted without loss of time.

The line works with remarkable distinctness, proof of the excellence of the material and construction work.

The central office is in the jewelry store of H. R. Condy. The construction crew is busy poling the town. The exchange will start with forty instruments. The commissioner of Churchill county are considering the proposition to tack onto the line. Their system belts Churchill county. They will be compelled to partially rebuild the line and put in long distance phones.

TWIN MEASURES.

THE secretary of the Omaha Commercial Club, Mr. John E. Utt, in an interview, refers to the rivers and harbors bill as the twin of irrigation measures. The term is in accordance with the views of the editor of The Journal, who nearly two years ago in these columns maintained that the irrigation matter should rank equally with and in the same order as rivers and harbors and all other questions that are considered under the general head of internal improvements.

The apt connection made by Secretary Utt was inspired by an eastern dispatch which stated that the eastern cities were beginning a vigorous campaign for largely increased appropriation for the improvement of the rivers and harbors and are appealing to the west for help to pass a bill for an appropriation of $50,000,000, which will be introduced at the next session of Congress.

It is a well known fact that the appropriations for yacht stations, pleasure ponds and channeling of private creeks in the eastern States make up fully one half of all of the river and harbor appropriations which have been made by Congress. And yet the east contends, in its piteous appeal for help, that such appropriations are of incalculable benefit to the west! They complain bitterly of the defeat of the bill in the last session, which at first entirely ignored western rivers, while it appropriated $10,000,000 for New York, $8,000,000 for Philadelphia, $5,000,000 for Boston and many other millions for other eastern harbors and for ditches which run through the private grounds of eastern millionaires. Not a dollar was included for the improvement of the Mississippi river until, "to satisfy those southern and western money grabbers," the miserly sum of $50,000 was inserted, and which was afterwards increased to the princely amount of $250,000, to protect the billions of dollars worth of property owned by small farmers and the residents of the towns along its banks, except $100,000 which was to be expended along the entire length of the stream, which carries more water than half of the eastern rivers combined. This was how the west was to be benefited by the rivers and harbors bill.

It is time that the west should "look a little out" for itself. As Secretary Utt says: "By all means the rivers and harbors bill has a twin in irrigation legislation, which will not only create homes for many millions of American citizens, but sustain the many millions of homes already created against recurrence of drouth conditions which would destroy them. So nearly is the irrigation legislation a twin to rivers and harbors legislation that, like the Siamese twins, they should live or die together."

If Mr. Newlands' irrigation bill is killed next winter, let the rivers and harbors be left to take care of themselves. They can as well afford it as the 75,000,000 of acres of semi-arid land can afford to await the element which will render them as productive as the Valley of the Nile and increase the wealth of the nation a hundred per cent more than the expenditure of twice the amount necessary for their reclamation, as it has been expended for the improvement of the pleasure grounds of eastern millionaires, and incidentally that of the rivers and harbors of the same "persecuted" section. The people of the west have waited long enough for the spirit of justice to inspire the habitants of the east to accord them the rights and recognition to which they are entitled as parts of the nation and contributors to the support of the government which is supposed to make no discrimination in favor of or inimical to the interests of any section or State.

So let the twins theory be adopted, and the Siamese twins at that. Let the life or death of one depend upon that of the other. It is not retaliation. It is simply obedience to the first law of nature—self protection. Paraphrasing the Indian motto of "no money, no work," let the shibboleth of the friends of irrigation be henceforth, and if necessary until the end of time: "No irrigation, no rivers and harbors." Let them live or die together.

WHAT NEWSPAPERS ACCOMPLISH.

THE value to a community of a live newspaper can scarcely be estimated in dollars and cents. The good it does is performed in such a diversity of ways, and on such a variety of occasions that the average edition of any well conducted newspaper must of necessity contain an infinite amount of the very best class of advertising, given free of charge; indeed, for which no adequate charge could be made.—Salt Lake Herald.

There is not a resident of a town, where a live and enterprising newspaper is published, who is not benefitted pecuniarly by its publication, and the better support such paper receives the greater advantage to all of the business interests of the town. No better estimate of the enterprise and business capacity of the people of a town can be made than by examination of the advertising columns of their local paper. If they are well filled it denotes general prosperity and a spirit of enterprise and liberality upon the part of the citizens, while a scanty array of straggling ads, is a sure indication of either poverty of resources, or the parsimonious methods of the business men. The narrow minded merchant who thinks that money paid for advertising is thrown away, would realize the idoicy of his belief inside of a week, were the paper or the papers of his town to suspend publication. It would be the worst "black-eye" that could be given to the town and its inhabitants. It would be worse than the failure of a dozen of the most prominent business establishments in the place, and as bad as the "petering out" of the principal mines in a small mining town, whose business was entirely dependent upon the mineral product of the district.

Some people are inclined to regard newspaper publishers somewhat as mendicants, and that money paid them for legitimate work is given in charity. As a matter of fact newspaper publishers donate more to the public in the way of free advertising of the resources of the section; encouragement and promotion of public and private enterprises and a hundred other things, the cost of the type-setting alone of which is ten times more than is bestowed in charity and donated for public purposes by any begrudger of the publisher's compensation for a few inches of space in the columns of his paper.

MATRIMONIAL FEVER ON SHIPBOARD.

SIXTY of 400 school teachers who embarked on a transport from San Francisco, sometime ago for the Philippines under a requisition of superintendent Adkinson, fell under Cupids darts, and were married upon the arrival of the ship at Honolulu. The delegation was pretty evenly divided as to sexes, and as they were mostly strangers when they passed through the Golden Gate, that the matrimonial fever ran high on ship board, is manifested by the above figures, and the short time of the run between San Francisco and the Hawaiian Islands. If the fever continues proportionately until the arrival of the vessel at the Philippines there is a richer haul in store for the hymeneal knot tyers at Manila than was ever enjoyed by the clergy and local judiciary of Reno during the most prosperous splicing season of California divorces. It is not improbable even that some enterprising parsons will take passage on other vessels carrying a force of teachers to our eastern colonies, even if the ship owners should exact a handsome commission from the fees collected.

It was understood that Superintendent Adkinson held the view generally maintained by the employers of teachers here, that married females should have no place on the pay rolls of public teachers, and it was thought because of such impression that the schools in the Philippines would receive but little benefit from the shipload first in transit. It was certainly understood that teachers in single state only were wanted when the requisition was filled. But it appears from unofficial information, that in many of the towns where it is designated to establish schools it is regarded desirable that a lady teacher should have a strong arm to protect her and that no one can so effectually furnish that powerful limb as a husband and one who is likewise of the same profession. If that be true, it will be joyful rather than disheartening news to the superintendent when he learns that the "protected" class has been or is about to be largely increased by the invoice of another cargo which has been cabled him.

TWO PROSPEROUS VALLEYS IN SOUTHERN ELKO COUNTY

By C. D. VAN DUZER.

Secret Valley.

Probably this valley, crested like a gem far on the summit of the Rubys, has no equal in Nevada for beauty. Following up Starr valley from Deeth to the famous "71" ranch, owned by Joe Scott; the well-known western stockman, the traveler wends his way up a long canyon, leaving the group of valleys west of the Rubys far to the south. By turns and grades he climbs to the divide and finds himself finally in a mountain-locked valley, not large but hemmed in by summits green with chapparal, sags clothed in crooked and stunted cottonwoods, and bare granite peaks. The sky is clear and the white clouds almost touch the peaks. Banks of snow still remain notwithstanding the long, hot summer. Secret valley is 7000 feet above the sea level and autumn winds and autumn sun has turned the grain to the yellow and golden harvest, and one is reminded of the view seen from the summit of the Catskills, where the mountain ranches, with their brown buck wheat fields, makes the landscape look like a checkerboard. From every canyon comes a stream of cold, clear water. From every peak springs sends forth the nucleus of a mountain stream. There are only five ranches in the valley, A. B. Faussett, Ed Murphy and the three Gardners, father and two sons. Here they live as free as the mountaineers of Switzerland in their mountain kingdom, raising large fields of grain, cutting many acres of wild hay and utilizing large pastures for their cattle.

The valley is one of many in Elko county, though it is possibly the smallest in extent of area, but is typical of the splendid stock opportunities of Nevada and particularly Elko county.

Where in this western country can a home be built amid more pleasant surroundings, where a better living can be made with as little effort as in Nevada.

Elko county is proud of the boast that she is the banner county of the State. While she may have no booming city like Reno, taking on the habiliments of metropolitan airs, yet Elko in her variety of resources industries and interests, with her mines, abundance of water, timber, valleys, vast stock interests will always maintain a lead among the chief counties of the State. No finer stock country today exists in the west than is found in Elko county.

From Secret valley one by gentle declivity drops into Ruby valley, vast in expanse, skirted on the west by a range for seventy miles, as marvelous in its geology, as beautiful in scenery as the Alps, and on the east the mountains fall away in the blue distance, opening in plains and passes extending into White Pine and Utah. But Ruby valley is a topic by itself, worthy pages of description.

Mound Valley.

Why this valley should have been named Mound Valley no one seems to know, yet it is another of those marvelous valleys in Elko county which contributes to the counties wealth. It is entirely different from the other valleys One drops gently over from Harrison pass, a low dip in the Ruby chain and meets with a succession of small streams coming from the mountains. On the Ruby Valley side the streams flow into a vast meadow. Here the ranches are very narrow and long. But on every creek are several ranches cutting large areas of wild hay and alfalfa. Each rancher has a band of cattle. The houses are modern, the yards colored with flowers, the barns all substantially built and well roofed and painted. A good barn means a thrifty man and a progressive community.

Mound Valley covers about ten miles square has some twenty ranches, cuts about 7,000 tons of hay, has a store, one hotel, a telephone system, is head quarters for 30,000 sheep and about 10,000 head of cattle.

Coming from Harrison Pass Judge Toyne has a model ranch, next comes Ed Carville with a pretty home J. J. Hylton who 25 years ago came into the valley and went to work for $25 a month now owns 15,000 head of sheep, 1,000 head of cattle, 5,000 acres of land and cuts 1,800 tons of hay. Owns a store with a $16,000 stock, owns a flour mill and has a handsome residence. He is an example of what an energetic and earnest man can accomplish in Nevada. He is public spirited believes in the future of our State and thinks we ought to advertise the State more thoroughly.

The Moody brothers, just above Skelton, the local settlement, have a beautiful brick home. They burned their own kiln of brick and on a sandy ridge just a little above the meadows level they have erected a residence that would do credit to a city. A massive barn, full of hay, stands near by. Hereford bulls and valuable stallions are stalled, and no New England farm is more perfectly equipped than the Moody ranch. On every creek are several ranches, where pretty homes are to be found and natural groves adorn the lawns.

No place in Nevada can compare with these Elko county valleys. The streams still flow quite an abundance of water. Numerous reservoir sites are to be found in the canyons.

It is simply amazing, the beauty, the wealth, the water supply, the perfect climate, the fine ranges to be found in southern Elko. The people of Nevada have little conception of these valleys—Starr, Secret, Ruby, Mound, Huntington, South Fork, Lamoille and Halleck.

The people are mostly wealthy, and the fact that from every valley a large number of young men and women attend both the high school in Elko and the State University is a healthy indication of the breadth of mind and business capacity of the people of this rich stock and agricultural section of the State.

SAVES LIFE

Willard, Ill., August 1, 1900.
I was in bad health this spring and could not sit up in bed for four weeks. When I was confined my child died. When I began to sit up I felt so weak and had such terrible pains in my back and hips. I had kidney trouble and falling of the womb. I also had hysterical spells. I was in a bad condition when I received your "Ladies' Birthday Almanac" and read the advertisement of Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black-Draught. Since April 20th, I have taken four bottles of Wine of Cardui and three packages of Thedford's Black-Draught. I feel like a new person now. I can do all my work and can walk out to see any of my neighbors. I believe I would have been in the grave had it not been for Wine of Cardui. IT SAVED MY LIFE.
Mrs. ALICE DAVIS.

It is well that women are more patient than men. Few men could bear the bitter pangs, the agony and distress that women endure. Thousands of women have come to look upon suffering as a duty of their sex. But there are many instances of this heroic fortitude which now renders unnecessary. Women need no longer suffer for modesty's sake. Wine of Cardui brings relief to modest women in the privacy of their homes. Many of the best homes in this city are never without this great medicine. It cures whites and falling of the womb and completely eradicates those dragging periodical pains. Mrs. Davis' cure shows you conclusively what you may expect if you follow her example and take Wine of Cardui. Thedford's Black-Draught aids Wine of Cardui by regulating the stomach and bowels. When you ask your druggist for these medicines, be sure you get them. It was Wine of Cardui and Thedford's Black Draught that saved Mrs. Davis' life. Never take a substitute.

MINING IN THIS STATE

Culled News of Nevadas' Most Important Industry.

Alex McCone yesterday afternoon shipped the small double hoist engine formerly used in the Alta pump shaft, and several thousand feet of boiler tubing, to be used as water pipe. The load was consigned to the Bluestone Mining Company near Yerington and it took three four-horse teams to carry it.—Chronicle.

Ten carloads of Tonopah ore were shipped through to Selby's last week.

Mason Valley parties are working the old Blanchard mine in Cottonwood creek.

A. J. McCone, H. M. Graham and J. P. Woodbury visited the mines of Bodie and Lundy last week.

A number of miners have passed through Austin during the past week bound for Berlin where they have work with the Nevada Company.

A miner named Hugh G. Gibson, was killed by a premature explosion of giant powder in a mine near Ely, White Pine county, last Wednesday.

THE OCEAN SCORCHER.

He Who Brags About How Many Times He Has "Crossed."

The ocean scorcher, the woman or man who was forever bragging about how many times he had "crossed," is, thank heaven, on the decrease. Fashion has at last set the seal of her disapproval on him, and he is rapidly becoming obsolete. The fashion is now never to mention the number of times one has been to Europe. "The last time I was over" is the way to refer to an over the water experience if you wish to be in the vogue. Of course you may, if you truthfully can, say "the time before last I was over" or "the tenth time I crossed" or "during my seventy trip through Europe," but a great majority, you will find, say "the last time I was over." It is safer—when one has been over but once.

Pin many of these travelers so fond of relating their European experiences down to the figures, and you will find that "the last time I was over" bears a close relation to the little boy who said he was next to the head of his class to have it transpire later that the class consisted of himself and a little girl. "The last time I was over" may, like as not, have been the first. Still any thing is better than the ocean scorcher and his bragging. To him it didn't matter where he hadn't been or what he hadn't seen or anything, but simply how many times he had crossed.

The one time on record that any one was known to get ahead of these scorchers was when a lot of them were sitting swapping lies on a certain steamship deck and a nonscorcher, having learned that the star scorcher's record was 188 runs, remarked, "There's a man on board who has crossed 566 times." Then, as the excitement caused by the news somewhat subsided: "He's never been anywhere except to the two ports Liverpool and New York. He's never seen anything, he's never done anything, but just cross the ocean 566 times—he's the ship's barber."—New York Sun.

A Question.

Jack's father and mother were having a very heated discussion at the table one day. They entirely forgot him, and as the argument waxed fiercer he looked from one to the other with real concern on his chubby face. Presently during a lull he cleared the air by asking, pointedly:

"Papa, did you marry mamma or did mamma marry you?"—Brooklyn Life.

It Is Written.

"So!" said Mr Upjohn in his most witheringly sarcastic manner, "Johnny gets all his good qualities from you, and all his bad ones from me, does he?"

"Certainly," answered Mrs. Upjohn triumphant but calm. "Doesn't the Bible expressly say that the sins of the fathers are visited upon the children?"—Chicago Tribune.

The Maltese.

The Maltese are mainly the last surviving remnant of the Carthaginian race of the old Phoenician people. Malta was the half way station between Carthage and Sicily long held by the Carthaginians and of which Hannibal, the father of Hannibal, was at one time governor.

AUGUST FLOWER.

"It is a surprising fact," says Prof Houton, "that in my travels in all parts of the world, for the last ten years, I have met more people having used Green's August Flower than any other remedy, for dyspepsia, deranged liver and stomach, and for constipation. I find for tourists and salesmen, or for persons filling office positions, where headache and general bad feelings from irregular habits exist, that Green's August Flower is a grand remedy. It does not injure the system by frequent use, and is excellent for sour stomachs and indigestion." Sample bottles free at S. J. Hodgkinson.

Sold by all dealers in all civilized countries.

NOW IS YOUR CHANCE.

ALLEGED WIT

"Who was the scientist who made the discovery that baldness is a sign of intelligence.

"I don't know his name. All I know is that he was bald."

"Well, Tompkins, how did you come out at the last race meeting?" asked a man of a friend.

"As nearly as I can figure it, I came out about $50 to the good."

"Fifty dollars? That's not bad. What horse did you back?"

"None. I had about $50 with me that I did not bet with."

"Whom do you consider the greatest hero in this town?" asked a stranger.

"Oh, Ed. Lunsford, of course."

"In what does his heroism consist?"

"He jilted a girl who has two brothers, both prize fighters."

"What if I were one of those husbands, my dear, who get up cross in the morning and bang things about and kick everything over just because the coffee is cold?"

"John,' responded his wife, "I would make it hot for you?"

As her words admitted of more than one interpretation, John said nothing about the coffee.
